

About Nathan

Nathan Krieg serves as the Economic Development Coordinator for Grow Licking County Community Improvement Corporation, having joined the organization in July 2026. In this role, he supports the organization's business retention and expansion, workforce development, and business attraction efforts while monitoring and analyzing economic data and trends.

Nathan holds a bachelor's degree in economics from The College of Wooster, where his research focused on local economic development. He previously interned with the Granville Area Community Improvement Corporation, gaining experience in business development and community improvement initiatives.

Nathan is a member of the Ohio Economic Development Association and Young Leaders of Licking County and resides in Granville.